Dear Hyatt’s Families,

The PTO would like to thank Marsha Cwynar for setting up another great Parent teacher Conference for the teachers of Hyatts. She, and the help she received, fed the teachers and kept them all happy when they were discussing your child progress!

Don’t forget that that the Book Fair will be held the first I week of March! Please encourage your child to enjoy and a book and help out the library at the same time.

If you are interested in working on the PTO, please give me a call or email me and we can surely use your help. There are positions open and committees that could use a co-chair for next year’s events planned.

PTO would like to send off the 8th graders heading off to Washington D.C. a safe trip. What a wonderful opportunity; stay warm.

If you are heading out of town, enjoy the better weather-it has to be better somewhere... and stay safe.

Have a great day

Tricia

All Olentangy parents are invited to attend an honest discussion on:

Helping Kids Use Athletics for Life Success:
Simple Steps for Sports Parents

Meet and learn from Chris Stankovich, Ph.D. Dr. Stankovich is an athletic counselor and nationally respected author and lecturer in the field of sports and health performance science. Known as “The Sports Doc,” on ONN, he is also a featured columnist for Columbus Parent Magazine and a contributor to High School Today. This fun and interactive presentation is a must for adults, as he will discuss key variables that can make– or break– you child’s overall experience with interscholastic sports.

Date: Wednesday, February 25th

Time: 7—8:30 PM

Location: OHS

Free Babysitting

Program Highlights:

- How to respond to issues like burnout, specialization, supplements and tough coaches
- How to resolve issues in healthy, safe and positive ways
- How to maximize the fun and learning while minimizing the stress
- How to use experience in athletics as a vehicle for future life success

Visit his website at www.drstankovich.com
